

JASOPELS SKIN CLEANER AUTOMAT T5 ENSURES THE NECESSARY LAST TOUCH

Thanks to the Jasopels Skin Cleaner Automat T5 by Jasopels, the breeder Tommy Hangaard may considerably reduce workload and increase quality.

Tommy Hangaard is a mink breeder with passion who, just like a judge, focuses on every detail, thanks to which he may get the best out of his skins.

- For me it's important to do everything I can to provide Copenhagen with the best possible product – highlights Tommy Hangaard.

Last season he used Jasopels Skin Cleaner Automat T5 to introduce the last necessary alterations to 15.000-18.000 skins supplied to the Pelting Center, deriving from 3.800 females bred at his farm.

- The new machine softens and cleans the skins better than the old system. I think the brushes fitted on the machine works better. I have the impression that they raise the hair on the fur, recommends Tommy Hangaard.

Lower workload required for skin cleaning

Previously the skins were cleaned with a brush and softened separately.

- With the Jasopels Skin Cleaner Automat T5 we need much fewer employees when we prepare the skins for auction. Now just one person stands by the machine and I attach the labels with the bar-code, explains Tommy Hangaard.

After Christmas the Pelting Center is involved in preparing and packing the skins.

- We start working at 6:00 a.m. and pack the skins before dawn. Then we go to the farm. Using the Jasopels Skin Cleaner Automat T5. We finished early this year, mainly because the machine is very fast, says Tommy Hangaard.

Better skin assessment

The skin cleaner is fitted with a large suction device which is in fact just a grain blower with a reverse application. The air flows through a filter bag that stops dust and sawdust.

- The Jasopels Skin Cleaner Automat T5 does a whole lot of work, thanks to which both the leather side and the hair coating side are cleaned of sawdust more efficiently, explains Tommy Hangaard.

The process largely contributes to introducing the last touch that is important for the grading of the skin.

- I think the Jasopels Skin Cleaner Automat T5 obtains higher prices and better marks for my skins. A skin being soft and pleasant to the touch achieves better results during the grading process. I have no doubt about that, adds Tommy Hangaard.
